

Coach Approach
TRAINING INSTITUTE

The Coach Approach Training Institute is honored to confer upon

Elizabeth Brink

the designation of

Professional Certified Neurodiversity Coach™

The above-named individual is hereby credentialed as a Professional Certified Neurodiversity Coach™ based on proven coaching competence in support of client self-knowledge and desired change. This professional's coaching ability was assessed as meeting ICF's Professional Certified Coach standards (using the ICF PCC Marker criteria). A PCNC™ credential requires over 125 hours of coach and ethics training, plus 10 total hours of mentor coach support from the Coach Approach Training Institute, a Level 2 International Coaching Federation Accredited Coach Training Program.

This program included academic and experiential training on the many faces of neurodiversity; on client education and advocacy strategies; on coaching ethics and boundaries; and on distinguishing between coaching support, consulting services and therapy.

Conferred June, 2026
Valid through June 30, 2029
